

Edgar Magallanes SJ is a Venezuelan Jesuit priest, social worker, and academic leader who has served as National Director of the Jesuit Refugee Service (JRS) Venezuela since July 2021. He is known for his work in humanitarian aid, refugee and displacement support, and social advocacy in one of the most challenging contexts in Latin America.